COHHO HYPOTHERMIA REPORT FOR THE MONTH OF NOVEMBER 2012 WINTER 2012-2013

To assist the ICH Operations & Logistics Committee in monitoring implementation of the Winter Plan in real time, COHHO will issue reports during the winter season. In the past, the report has been done weekly, but will be done monthly for November and December 2012 before resuming on a weekly basis.

In preparing this report, we have reviewed daily official weather-related information, the daily shelter Census forms, and the Family Shelter System Monthly Report.

Ten Alerts were called during this period on November 4, 5, 6, 7, 13, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28.. On these nights, the hypothermia shelters were open.

On November 16, 21, 23 and 29, the reported Wind Chill data show that the Wind Chill was at or below 32° but no Alert was called..

System-wide capacity for the men's system was not exceeded on any night during the period. The seasonal beds for men at CCNV, the Alert night beds at First Rising Baptist Church, and the overflow beds at D.C. General which were represented on the Capacity Table of the 2012-2013 Winter Plan were not shown on the daily census for any date during the month of November.

At least two individual men's shelters exceeded their respective capacities on Alert nights during the period. New York Avenue was over capacity on November 4, 5, 6, 7, and 13. 801-East was over capacity on November 26, as well as November 8 (which was not an Alert night).

System-wide capacity for women's system was not exceeded on any night during the period. The seasonal beds for women at CCNV first opened on November 6.

The Hermano Pedro women's shelter exceeded capacity on November 13 and November 30 (which was not an Alert night).

There were 12 families in Motels at the beginning of the period, and 10 families in Motels at the end of the period.

Respectfully Submitted,

Chapman Todd for the
